FREE FIGHT FOR A MASCOT.

Hoodoo Chaser is Reduced to Fragments During the Melee. Prof. Kelsey of the Latin department of the High school is a bandy man himself when it comes to a rough and tumble. That is the conclusion which a goodly number of the male students of Omaha's big institution have reached. There was a very company." hilarious "rough house" on the second floor of the High school building yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock or thereabouts.

The cause of the affray is to be found idol of the class. The mascot's life was an uneventful one for only a few days, as the members of the senior class soon come to the conclusion that the juniors were al-together too fresh, especially as they were inclined to flaunt their mascot in the seniors'

The result of the matter was that some eeling was aroused between the two classes and the seniors made up their minds to get possession of the mascot. After a couple of very exciting attempts they finally got the cast in their possession. They managed to retain it from that time until yesterday

Possession of the mascot satisfied the seniors during the year, but as commence-ment is now but a tew days off they do-termined to do a little erowing over the defeated juniors, and incidentally to show their contempt for them and their idol. In this spirit they yesterday conveyed the mascot morning. Even a worm will turn and the juniors proud spirits would no longer stand the ridcule of themselves and their little mascot of it again. With this purpose in view a dozen of the braver members of the class secured a ladder and took steps to bring back to the fold the suspended fetish.

The seniors, however, were on the lookout.

A half dozen of them were in sight when the attempt was made. As one of the juniors mounted the ladder, the seniors rushed forward and pulled him down. This was the signal for a rough and tumble fight. One student finally got to the top of the ladder and cut the rope that held the mascot. The cast fell to the floor in fragments, the ladder tumbled and the rescuer struck the floor with a mighty thud. Then the whole crowd scrambled to get hold of the remains of the

The noise attracted the attention of Prof. Kelsey. He rushed at once into the melee. He picked up the foot ball boys as if they were babies and slammed a half dozen of them right and left. Some of the flying forms threatened to break down the walls of the building. At least this is the way that the boys in the fight describe the professor's work. The professor himself is modest and says that he did not indulge in any Indian club exercise. It is said, too, that the pro-fessor got a good whack from one of the boys, but he denies this also.

After the arrival of the professor the fight ery speedily stopped. At its conclusion, the members of the rowing elements were marched before the principal, where they apologized for the disturbance. There will no more fights over the mascot because

Miss Towne's High School Class Room the Seene of Hostilities. High schoold students seem to have been in a fighting mood yesterday. Besides the row over the junior mascot, a boy received a slight but painful scalp wound in a fusilade of books and crasers that took place in the room where Mist Towne was teaching a class in English. The fun began with the interchange of books and stopped only when an eraser hit Nathan Kassel on the head, cutting the skin and making the blood flow. Discipline was finally restored and the par-

"OVERLAND" MAKES A NEW TRAFFIC DEAL

Report that the Union Pacific Has Tied Up with the Southern Pacific for Business from the Const.

There is every indication of a bitter compecition between the Union Pacific railway and the Oregon Short Line. The rebellious child has formed friendships with new companions, and the parent road, angered at this the Chicago Live Stock exchange as an interlisplay of bad faith, has proceeded to make traffic arrangements with lines other than that which was once a part of the Union Pacific system. Rio Grande Western was regarded by the was not such a corporation as set forth in Union Pacific as the last straw, and when it section 13 of the act constituting the Interfound itself forced to compete with other Morrison said he would take the motion lines for business to and from a territory it had long regarded as its exclusive field, it progress of the hearing it developed that the looked about for other connections to the great northwest territory than via the Oregon Short Line. The Union Pacific will even up matters with the Oregon Short Line by routing business destined from the east to Portland via Sacramento, Cal., instead of via Ogden and Pocatello. Thus business will via Ogden and Pocatello. Thus ousnites be taken away from the Oregon Short Line and given to the Southern Pacific.

from San Francisco yesterday, and is not very emphatically denied at the local headquarters of the Union Pacific. In fact, several officials of the Union Pacific yesterday stated to a Bee reporter that such a new traffic alliance was not only possible, but probable. Though it would seem at first impracticable to handle busi-Though it would ness from here to Portland via Sacramento, the distance by that route is not so greatly in excess of that by the Short Line. A Union Pacific official said yesterday: "Such an arrangement is not at all improbable. While the distance from Ogden to Portland via Sacramento would be something like 300 miles more than via the Short Line and the Oregon Railway & Navigation company, you must remember that our line from here to Ogden is so much shorter than that of the Rio Grande lines, with which the Short Line has just tied up, that the dis-tance from here to Portland via the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific will be about the same as via the Burlington or Rock Island, the Rio Grande lines, the Short Line and the Oregon Railway & Navigation

ON THIS ROCK THEY SPLIT. It is announced from San Francisco that through car service between Chicago and The cause of the affray is to be found way back in the early part of the present school year. Shortly after the class of '96 became juniors the members determined to schase away with a mascot all hoodoos that might beset their course. They picked upon a nice white plaster cast as possessing the a nice white plaster cast as possessing the portion of the immense business to and from the northwest that would otherwise be lost to it. The Union Pacific officials held five meetings with the Short Line people, endeavoring to agree upon a satisfactory traffic arrangement. The Short Line refused to concede what the officials of "the land Route" demanded, and they parted com-

Those who have insisted that all talk of a falling out between the Union Pacific and spirit they resterday conveyed the mascot to the High school building and suspended it from the ceiling of the hall, where all the up with the Great Northern. Now the the students could gaze at it. The seniors to the High school building and suspended it is up with the Great Northern. Now the Union Pacific has been unable to enter into General Manager Bancroft of the Short Line apparently prefers close relations with the Rio Grande Western road.

DETERMINES ON A FIGHT The Union Pacific has accepted the only alternative, and has determined to fight th Short Line to the bitter end. For the past week or more the Short Line, which was always referred to as "Our great line to the northwest," has been spoken of about the Union Pacific headquarters as "that little The fact that all the Short Line officials are ex-employes of the Union Pacific and owe their present places to the good will of President Clark, General Manager Dicknson, General Solicitor Kelly and a few other prominent Union Pacific officials does not seem to prevent their making a warfare against the system of which the Short Line was so long a branch. Rather, it is argued, that the Short Line officials, havpared to enter into active competition against the great "Overland Route."

Malloy of this city, who has charge of the Union Pacific yesterday said to a Bee reporter: "The effect of this will not be to open any new route. We have always had two routes to Portland, one via the Short two routes to Portland, one via the Short Line and the Oregon Railway & Navigation com pany, the other via the Central Pacific and the Southern Pacific. The only new thing about the matter is that the latter will now become more emphasized. It is emphasized because more business is being routed that way. We are not opening any new line." CHOICE OF TWO ROUTES. Freight Traffic Manager Munroe of the Union Pacific said: "The Union Pacific had two routes to Portland, one via the Short Line, the other via Sicramento. At present there is quite a large amount of business being routed by Sacramento. This route is but little longer than via the Short Line and the Oregon Railway & Navigation com-pany. In fact, from here to Portland, this route is shorter than a route which includes the Denver & Rio Grande, the Rio Grande Western, the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railway & Navigation company. The route via Sacramento has become mor emphasized by the present state of affairs, but there is no new gateway in that direc-tion being opened. The Ogden gateway has been opened. The Short Line has been pened to the Rio Grande Western, which formerly routed all its Portland and other northwestern business via Sacramento. The Rio Grande Western will probably send a good part of its northwestern business via the Short Line now. Like the Union Pacific, the Rio Grande Western now has the choice of two routes for its business to Portland."

Other officials, who did not care to be quoted, expressed much the same opinion, only they thought that the route to Portland via Sacramento would now be pushed harder by the Union Pacific that the Short Line would be. Said one of them: "Of course, there will be a choice of two routes to Portland and the same as there has always been, but heretofore the preference has always been given the Short Line. It's has always been given the Short Line. It's more than likely that the Union Pacific will now throw as much Portland business as possible to the Southern Pacific, via Sacra-mento. The business that goes via the Short line and the Oregon Railway & Navigation company will be only such as is shipped or the provision that it be sent that way.

Assistant General Freight Agent Snyder of the Rock Island, formerly general agent of the Rock Island's freight department in this city, came in yesterday from Chicago, where his offices are now located. He is here to attend the annual meeting of the Union Elevator company, at Council Bluffs, of which General Manager Dickinson of the Union Pacific is president and Mr. Snyder is secretary and treasurer.

Speaking of traffic conditions, Mr. Snyder said to a Bee reporter: "I think there is no said to a Bee reporter: "I think there is no doubt but that business is improving. Interstate Commerce Commission Takes Up Switching Charges.

CHICAGO, June 2.- The complaint of the Texas Catile Shippers' association against the roads delivering cattle to the Union stock yards was heard by the Interstate Commerce commission today. Incidental to the $2 switching charge, which the shippers ask the commission to annul by order on the rail-roade, is involved the matter of alleged burdensome devlay in getting feeding charges from the shippers at the Chicago yards. William Brown of the Chicago & Alton opened the proceedings by presenting a motion for the exclusion of venor. Mr. Brown charged the Live Stock exchange with not being in court with clean hands. He said it had no interest controversy, that it was to all intents a cor-Pacific system.

The opening of the Ogden gateway to the and conspiracies in restraint of trade and under advisement, and if at any time in the Rock Island, was then called. He did not know whether the agents of the connecting lines of his road in Texas had notified ship-pers of the $2 switching charges, but thought his own agents did. However he had no contracts for shipping to refer to. He said he did not know what the arrangements were for the use of the tracks at the stock yards. Delivery at the yards was under a lease of some kind from the Stock Yards company. In answer to a question by Commissioner Prouty, Mr. Trues ale said the Stock Yards company made a trackage charge of 80 cents The commissioner then asked him if the imposition of the charge of $2 did not simply amount to a rate against Chicago and in favor of St. Louis and Kansas City, there being differentials to those points. Mr. Truesdale replied this was not necessarily so

THE RESERVE THE RESERVE THE PARTY OF THE PAR The district court decision in the Pivonkacity hall matter caused a great deal of talk about town yesterday and ex-Mayor Johnston and the democratic council were roundly scored for the part they took in the case. The city offices were moved before the lease had expired under the pretext that the city would save about $15 a month in rent. The mayor and council were notified at the time that the city would be liable for the rent but they voted to move just the same. It is understood that the city will appeal the case to the supreme court.

Ex-Mayor Johnston and his friends assert hat the court only gave Pivonka two months' rent, which was true, as that was all he sued for. Now suits will be brought for the balance of the lease, twenty-two for the balance of the lease, twenty-two months. It is contended that if the owner of the property can collect rent for two months, he can collect for the whole term of the lease, although Johnston and his friends deny thie.

The judge of the district court held that the city was bound by the answer filed in the lower court and would allow no new issues to be brought in. This is given by the democratic ex-officials as an excuse for the decision against the city and it is claimed that with other issues Pivonka cannot win again. The fact that Treasurer Hoctor was given an extension of time by Pivonka is cited by the ex-officials as a point in favor of the city. It is a fact, nevertheless, that the city did not vacate when the three years were up, and good lawyers say that Pivonka can collect for the full term of his lease. The city attorney has been directed to draft the proper ordinance. While the charges may not be reduced as low as in Omaha, quite a reduction will be made, and the provisions of the Omaha ordinance will be followed to some extent. The charges in force now are: For improvements costing $100, 50 cents; $100 to $350, $1; $350 to $600, $2; $800 to $1,000, $3; each additional $1,000, $1. $1,000, $3; each additional $1,000, $1. Chaptain Jim Martin. Everyone at the live stock exchange is having a good laugh over the appointment of Jim Martin as chaplain of the Stock Yards Equestrian club. Commander Lott made the appointment just for a joke, and in order to give the boys a chance to josh Martin a bit. The new chaplain took all of the cracks good naturedly, but thought it time to call a halt when he received a letter from Omaha addressed to Rev. James G. Martin. Those who are acquainted with Martin know that he is anything but a preacher, but they say he will make a "hot" chaplain for the club.
